

eprivateclient recognises James Campbell for sixth consecutive year

News - 16/01/2024

Ogier partner, James Campbell, has once again been named in the eprivateclient 50 Most Influential list for 2024, marking his sixth consecutive inclusion.

This prestigious list serves as a definitive guide, highlighting leaders in the UK and offshore private client practitioner sector, and James's consistent recognition reinforces his exceptional contributions to the field. The accolade follows a tough judging process, which considers candidates' achievements in the past 12 months and identifies the talent at the forefront of the private client profession for the upcoming year.

Specialising in advising high-net-worth families, professional trustees, and family offices on Jersey trusts, foundations, and estate planning, James has solidified his position as a top-tier professional. He receives acclaim from clients and consistently features prominently in various leading directories year after year.

The eprivateclient 50 Most Influential list celebrates those providing exceptional advice and service for clients, recognising individuals who drive innovation in meeting the needs of wealthy individuals.

James's consistent presence in this esteemed list reflects not only his individual excellence but also the collective success of Ogier's Private Wealth team, which continues to set industry standards and has recently been honoured with multiple accolades including Offshore Firm of the Year at The Lawyer European Awards 2023.

James said: "I am really honoured to have received this recognition from eprivateclient and very much look forward to catching up with the other delegates and the eprivateclient team on 7 February."
