Background and experience

Skip has worked in the Japanese financial sector for more than 20 years with the first three years working at Deutsche Securities as an economic research analyst as well as three additional years acting as the Liaison Officer and Business Development Manager for Deutsche Bank's Offshore Group (DBO) heading up sales for fund administration, corporate and global custody services.

Following his stint with Deutsche Bank, Skip worked for another leading offshore law firm for six years and headed up the Tokyo branch of their corporate administration practice. During this time Skip mainly covered the SPV Administration and the investment fund sector. He was also responsible for business development in the Asia region with specific emphasis on the South Korea, Hong Kong and Singapore structured finance and alternative investment funds markets.
