Background and experience

Heidi joined Ogier in 2020 having worked in the litigation team at another offshore law firm in Guernsey. She has a broad practice that deals with contentious trusts, tax disclosure requests, regulatory advice and professional negligence claims. She regularly acts for trustees, beneficiaries and professional advisors. Her cases often have a cross-jurisdiction aspect, which involves dealing with advisors in multi-jurisdictions. She is also experienced in dealing with enforcement proceedings and costs issues, including taxation. Having a keen interest in representing the legal profession Heidi is the Chair of the Women Lawyers Division of The Law Society.

Heidi graduated with a BA Honours History degree from the University of Leeds, specialising in the Second World War, the war in the Pacific and Japanese history. She completed her PGDL and LPC at the Chester College of Law.

Heidi's recent cases include:

Trusts and Estates

- Acting for trustees and beneficiaries in relation to contested Public Trustee v Cooper applications, in particular to settle multi-jurisdiction proceedings and separation of trusts between beneficiaries.
- Advising trustees in relation to sham trust proceedings, which also included dealing with proceedings in various other jurisdictions.
