Background and experience

Chloé is an experienced finance lawyer admitted in Luxembourg since 2021.

Chloé has significant experience providing advice on corporate and finance transactions involving Luxembourg vehicles with a particular focus on fund finance.

Chloé mainly represents banks and financial institutions as lenders and agents in structuring, negotiating and documenting on a broad range of fund finance transactions including subscription line facilities, NAV facilities and hybrid facilities.

Chloé spent six-months on a secondment to our Cayman Islands office, developing strong relationships with clients and in-depth knowledge on cross-border financing structures.

Prior to joining Ogier, Chloé was legal counsel for an international bank in Luxembourg, advising internal and external clients on a broad range of regulatory matters (including GDPR, PSD II, PAD and the European and local outsourcing regulation). Chloé graduated with a Master's degree specialising in European Business Litigation from the University of Nancy (France). She speaks fluent French, English and Italian.
