Background and experience

Corinne advises investment managers and general partners in regard to dissolution options and CIMA de-registration matters and has acted as joint voluntary liquidator on hundreds of Cayman Islands companies.

Corinne started her career in 2006 as a tax accountant, transitioning to liquidation work in 2008. Corinne relocated to the Cayman Islands in 2011, working on Cayman Islands domiciled vehicles, as well as BVI and Hong Kong matters. She spent a year in Hong Kong in 2014, assisting on liquidations of Hong Kong entities and cross border insolvent liquidations.

Prior to joining Ogier Global, Corinne was a senior vice president at a global law firm based in the Cayman Islands, where she acted as joint voluntary liquidator and advised a large portfolio of clients on the dissolution and termination options.

Prior to that, Corinne was a senior manager at an accountancy firm in the Cayman Islands and formerly in the UK, where her industry focus was on insolvent and distressed liquidations, working on asset realisation and advising creditors and dissatisfied investors of their likely outcome.
