

The landscape for charities has evolved significantly over the past decade. With international legislation strengthened and a growing focus on charitable structures, it is more essential than ever that professionals understand the requirements and risks involved. With a global growth in philanthropy predicted, the provision of services related to charitable endeavours represents a potentially huge opportunity for those interested in this field.

Having attended this forum, delegates will:

- Understand the latest developments in charitable law and structures
- Appreciate the opportunities available in the provision of philanthropic structures
- Develop a greater understanding of risk management within the charitable sector

Katie Baxter will be presenting on 'Recent updates to the Jersey Charity Law'.
