

Sustainability is a rising sector gaining increasing attention and interest. However, the general consensus is that there is a need for the market to build up ESG capacity to keep up with this movement.

Leonie Kelly, Director and Head of ESG and Impact Advisory at Ogier Global, will be joining a virtual panel hosted by ESG Matters to share her personal career journey, words of advice, and insights on job prospects. During this one-hour discussion, the audience will have the opportunity to raise questions and receive first-hand information on the industry.

Paving Your Professional Career Path in Sustainability - Episode 3 \(matters.academy\)