

This online event is hosted by esela - The legal network for social impact and the APAC Impact Lawyers.

Moderated by the newly elected chair of esela APAC Impact Lawyers, Steven Moe of Parry Field Lawyers, this event considers the question "What does it mean to be an Impact Lawyer in Asia Pacific?"

Speakers will share their experiences of navigating a career to develop environmental, impact investing and profit with purpose specialisms. The session will cover motivations, obstacles and career highlights, and provide insights of relevance to lawyers on this journey.

Join the event to find out more about APAC Impact Lawyers community within esela, and for an opportunity to connect with other lawyers through facilitated networking at the close of the session.
