

With the pace of implementation of UAE foundations growing at an exponential rate, STEP Arabia will take a look at the broader GCC to see what is happening in Saudi Arabia and Bahrain.

They will also consider regional cryptos, as well as a UAE structuring and tax update.

In the wake of the high profile inheritance dispute regarding the late Majid Al Futtaim, they will have a family governance panel to see what lessons can be learned to avoid some of the issues for the heads of other GCC families.

The objective of this conference is to provide delegates with the latest regional legacy planning developments and practical examples from leading industry experts, as well as a taste of the potential solutions under consideration.

James Campbell will be attending the conference and speaking on the panel.
