

Alexander Muksinov is delighted to speak about asset tracing and interim remedies at the upcoming English Law Days in Kazakhstan, which are set to take place in Almaty on Wednesday, 9 November 2022 and in Astana on Friday, 11 November 2022.

The conference will touch on a number of key themes, including:

- The work of the AIFC and the role of English/Common Law.
- Regulatory hot topics: Sanctions, AML & UWOs – obtaining licences; unwinding transactions caught by sanctions.
- Practicalities of asset-tracing; interim measures; bringing fraud claims in England.
- Arbitration clauses: what works/what doesn't; putting your team together; choosing arbitrators and experts; starting an arbitration (best practice); how to best utilise expert and witness evidence; remote hearings in post COVID age - pros and cons; how to 'manage' your Tribunal.

If you would like to connect with Alexander while he is in Kazakhstan, please get in contact via his details on the right.
