Turn complex data into compelling stories

Simplify complex data collection, processing and review, allowing your team to focus on what matters most.

Utilising the best-in-class RelativityOne e-Discovery platform, our experienced e-Discovery and Digital Forensics experts at Ogier Regulatory Consulting can provide the same swift, safe, collection and processing of complex case data you would expect from an external e-Discovery service provider through our in-house service.

Key benefits

Simplify complex data collection and processing

Facilitate efficient legal review and collaboration

Meet tight deadlines and expedite case resolution

Our e-Discovery service includes:

Secure collection

Collect electronically stored information (ESI) from diverse sources remotely or on-premises, utilising forensic data transfer verification methods to ensure chain of custody.

Accurate processing

Leverage industry-leading technology for optimised indexing, de-duplication, and keyword/timeline filtering, minimising the risk of missing critical evidence.

Enhanced review

The user-friendly web platform empowers you and your legal team to swiftly collaborate, tag, redact, and translate documents/files, ensuring a thorough and accurate review process. There are no additional fees for multiple reviewer accounts meaning you are only restricted by the number of reviewers you have available to work on the review.

Seamless sharing

Effortlessly export the reviewed files for sharing with external parties whilst maintaining a complete audit trail.

Support throughout the entirety of the case: we will securely store your case data, ensuring it is accessible throughout the entirety of your case. Additionally, we can provide super-user access, allowing your team to conduct ad-hoc searches on the fly.

AI-enhanced reviewing on our e-Discovery platform

Responsiveness reviews

Predict responsive documents for production, or QC results from a traditional review before it goes out the door.

Issues reviews

Locate material related to various legal issues that are important to your case strategy.

Key document identification

Find hot documents right at the start of your case – including important material that is often found late, or even missed.

Boasting over two decades of combined e-Discovery and digital forensics expertise, our team delivers beyond mere e-Discovery support, providing insightful interpretation of all digital evidence relevant to your case.
