Jersey's relationship with Africa

As one of the world's leading funds domiciles, Jersey is well positioned to assist investors in Sub-Saharan Africa.

Jersey is a popular jurisdiction for funds investing into Sub-Saharan Africa or pooling capital from investors in the region, thereby supporting in-bound foreign direct investment (FDI) as well as acting as an investment gateway to the UK and Europe.

It is estimated that Jersey accounts for around £15.5 billion in deployed capital across Kenya, Uganda, South Africa and Egypt. According to the Centre of Economics and Research (Cebr) between 2017 and 2020, Jersey supported £6 billion of Africa's GDP.

In addition, several African developing markets, including Uganda, Mozambique, Egypt and Senegal benefit directly and indirectly from FDI originating from Jersey to the tune of US$75.8 billion.

Jersey's government is committed to strengthening its position as a partner for Africa and has double tax agreements (DTAs) in force with Mauritius, the Seychelles and Rwanda. DTAs with Nigeria and Kenya are currently under negotiation. Jersey and Kenya have signed a bilateral Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on financial cooperation.

As a common law jurisdiction, Jersey is underpinned by a respected legal system and proportionate regulatory regime which complies with international regulatory, tax transparency and reporting standards.

The island is also the beneficiary of a vibrant finance industry comprising highly skilled professionals in the legal, accounting, fund management and fund, corporate and fiduciary administration sectors. Jersey is on the EU Code of Conduct Group's white list of international finance centres.

For African managers seeking investment capital from the UK or Europe, it is possible to market Jersey funds to investors based in the UK and in the European Economic Area, in addition to their appeal to international institutional investors. Jersey has entered into MoUs with all EU member states.

These MoUs permit Jersey managers to market Jersey funds to investors in the EU in accordance with each state's national private placement regime (NPPR). NPPRs are a tried-and-tested route to marketing in the EU which avoid the more onerous requirements of the EU's Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive (AIFMD) which apply to fund managers based in the EU.
